

Expectation of diffusion process with absorbing boundary

Shigeo Kusuoka

The University of Tokyo

It is a very important problem to compute numerically the price of barrier options.

Mathematically it is a numerical computation problem of the expectation of diffusion process with absorbing boundary.

In the present talk, we introduce a new numerical computational method and discuss its efficiency theoretically.